LETTER FROM THE BOARD VICE CHAIRMAN

Greetings from the SBH Board.

We thank God for bringing us this far in the year.

This season we have seen our SBH school grow beyond bounds. Our children now go to school every morning in a new and beautiful uniform. This helps them to have clear time lines and routines.

We have refurbished our classes, and added child friendly colours and posters suited for each age group. We have reduced screen time and integrated a more wholesome approach to early childhood learning. Besides the academics we have incorporated art and crafts, and music in our timetable. This we hope will foster the growth of each child and enable them to tap their God given talents.

We follow the Ugandan curriculum of Early Learning but we have also incorporated some aspects of the international curriculum so that our children benefit from both worlds. We have already begun to see positive development in the children's mental physical, emotional and psychological growth.

Please be encouraged to continue supporting the school with any scholastic or play materials.

Together we can make SBH a better place for our children.

Mrs. Harriet Semakula Mutumba – Board Vice Chairman

LETTER
From the Director SBH

Dear Friends

As we reflect on the past quarter, I am filled with gratitude for the incredible work that has been done at Sanyu Babies' Home (SBH). Our babies and children continue to thrive; thanks to your unwavering support.

I would like to extend my heartfelt appreciation to our generous donors, dedicated volunteers, hardworking staff and our Board of Governors for their tireless efforts. Your commitment to our mission of providing Christ-like love to babies and children deprived of parental love and helping reintegrate them into the community through reunification, fostering or adoption is truly inspiring.

Testimonies like that of our little fighter Gracious on page 07 shine a light on the impact that your support makes. Without your love and investment, transformational stories like his wouldn't be possible.

To our adoptive parents, we thank you for opening your hearts and homes to our precious children. Your love, care and commitment give children like Adrian and Elijah a second chance at a happy childhood and a bright future - (read their story on page 15).

If you are considering adoption, I would invite you to prayerfully consider adopting a boy. There are many, like Adrian and Elijah, who are still waiting to find their forever family to love. "And whoever welcomes one such child in my name welcomes me." – Matthew 18:5.

If you are not in a position to adopt, you can still make a lasting impact in a child's life through sponsorship. There are many babies at Sanyu Babies' Home that need sponsorship to give them hope. Please see the sponsorship details on page 12.

We would like to extend our thanks to Mrs. Harriet Semakula Mutumba, the Board Vice Chairman, for the instrumental role she has played in enhancing our nursery teachers' skills in early childhood development during their two weeks workshop. Your commitment to quality education is truly inspiring.

Special appreciation goes out to Henry Otim for staff training on Excellence and the Principles of money in the month of September. Our Sanyu team learnt that Excellence is a key component of personal leadership. The session on principles of money challenged perceptions and explored the idea that financial growth is within each one's reach. The participants demonstrated great desire to learn financial concepts and take charge of the direction of their financial growth. Thank you for sharing your knowledge and inspiring our staff toward principled financial growth and excellence.

As we move into the last quarter of the year, we are continuing to fundraise for 2 important projects. The first being Stage 2 of the solar energy project where our goal is to raise UGX 250 million. It is such an exciting opportunity to reduce the costs of running the home whilst also protecting and stewarding the planet that we live on! We trust that God, through you, will perform amazing miracles and will provide all the resources required to transform our home.

The second event we are looking to fundraise for is Sanyu's annual Christmas party! This is Sanyu's special opportunity to celebrate Christmas and thank the staff for all their hard work over the past year. If you are able to contribute to this very special event, we would love to hear from you. You could make a general donation or support a specific aspect of the party. For example, catering, staff awards or ice cream for the children! Your continued generous contributions and support are a great inspiration to us. We are as committed as ever to never letting God's banner at Sanyu Babies' Home burn out. "Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up." Galatians 6:9

Hellos and GOODBYES

The past three months have been very busy with changes involving 15 children. Each time we receive a child, our Social Work department does their best to perform a thorough investigation to try and discover where the baby came from and if possible, to reunite the baby with their family. Since our last newsletter, we have welcomed the following babies:

Bernard Mwebaze (3 years) arrived on 10th July 2025. He was abandoned by an unknown person at Boston-Lukuli, Makindye Division. The case was reported to Kabalagala Police Station who referred the child to Sanyu Babies' Home for temporary care and protection as investigations are done.

Amos Kitiibwa (1 month) arrived on 30th July 2025. He was abandoned by an unknown person at Bukesa Rubaga Division. The case was reported to Old Kampala Police Station. Later, the child was referred to Sanyu Babies' Home for temporary care and protection as investigations are done.

Miracle Ssuubi (3 years) arrived on 12th August 2025. He was abandoned by a lady suspected to be his mother at Kasubi. The case was reported to Old Kampala Police Station who referred the child to Sanyu Babies' Home for temporary care and protection as investigations are done.

Jonathan Ssuuna (4 years) arrived on 14th August 2025. He was found abandoned by an unknown person near Mabirizi complex Kampala. The case was reported to Central Police Station and the child was referred to Sanyu Babies' Home for temporary care and protection as investigations are done.

#HELLOS

Joseph Tumwine (3 days) arrived on 26th August 2025. He was found abandoned by an unknown person in a cassava plantation at Busaana, Kyankwanzi District. The case was reported to the Probation and Social Welfare Officer who referred the child to Sanyu Babies' Home for temporary care and protection as investigations are done.

OUR LITTLE FIGHTER, GRACIOUS PIE

GRACIOUS DECEMBER 2024

You might remember us introducing little Gracious Pie to you in the 65th edition of our newsletter at the end of 2024. Gracious had recently arrived at Sanyu and stole all of our hearts. His outlook was uncertain though, as he is a very medically complex child. We were taking each day as it came, and were grateful for each moment spent with him. When we introduced Gracious, we mentioned how he was discharged from Mengo Hospital just in time for the Christmas Party. Unfortunately, shortly after Christmas Gracious was admitted to Mulago Malnutrition Unit as he was struggling to gain any weight. Gracious spent several months at Mulago Hospital being looked after incredibly well by Mama Rebecca, and was eventually discharged towards the end of March.

GRACIOUS NOW

Well, we are so pleased to update you with the excellent progress that Gracious has been making recently! He truly is a little fighter, and is not giving up yet. Since we introduced him, Gracious has changed so much. His level of interaction has increased a lot, and he can now smile! It is now easy to see his different moods as he smiles when he is happy. If you smile at him, he loves smiling with you and he has even started laughing recently.
Gracious is becoming so strong, and is able to roll around and move himself in bed and when lying on the mattress. Gracious is learning how to sit in a Bumboo seat, and can sit upright for quite some time. When he is seated, he likes to look around to see what is happening around him and likes to watch the TV. Gracious now has started to bond with different people, and has particularly strong bonds with a few Mamas that he loves so much. He knows his favourite Mamas very well and responds to them differently to everyone else. One of the things that makes Gracious the happiest is bathing. He loves bathing in warm water and doesn't cry like the other children.

Gracious has gradually grown stronger and he has gained some weight. When he arrived, Gracious weighed just 3kg and now weighs 5.5kg. Though that is still underweight for a child who is 1 year and 4 months old, for Gracious this is huge progress. Gracious drinks a special porridge called F100 porridge which is mixed with different nutrients like wheat flour, cooking oil, sugar and milk. He likes this porridge a lot and drinks it well, and if you are late giving him porridge, Gracious can get annoyed. Gracious eats blended food and his favourite thing to have is chicken soup. So, if it is chicken soup blended with rice or with matoke, he eats really well. Gracious has made so much progress and is defying the odds just by still being here. We know that Gracious is still a very medically complex child, but are so grateful to God for each day we are given with him and how much of a little fighter he is.

CAN YOU HELP US MAKE THE Sanyu Christmas Party A DAY TO REMEMBER?

The Sanyu Christmas Party truly is a day like no other. It is a day where the entire Sanyu family comes together to give thanks to God and celebrate the past year. The day includes baptisms, staff awards, a bouncing castle, a huge buffet lunch, and of course A LOT of dancing. It is a day for the Sanyu family to come together and rejoice in all God has done, but also reflect on the more difficult days too.

Working at Sanyu isn't like a normal job; our staff don't work regular hours, or have every weekend off, and some don't even go home and see their families after a long shift as they live on site. Our Sanyu staff truly go above and beyond, and this day is for them to celebrate and be celebrated. The Sanyu Christmas Party also acts as 'Christmas Day' for the Sanyu children in some ways, as the 25th December is just another day at Sanyu. The Christmas Party enables the children to have all the people who love them – the volunteers as well as the staff – in one place at the same time, and have so much fun all together.

The Christmas Party is such a special day but over the past couple of years, we have really struggled to find the funding to put it on...can you help us? The items below all need covering to enable us to put on the best Christmas Party ever! Whether you are able to donate 5,000 UGX or 500,000 UGX we can assure you it will make a huge difference.

"Sanyu Babies' Home is truly a Home of Joy…"

In August, we had a team from the UK come and volunteer at Sanyu. Some of them like Lucy Hobbs are long-term friends and volunteers of Sanyu, whilst others had never even stepped foot in Uganda before. Here is what they had to say about their time at Sanyu...

"I have loved watching the children get cared for so well by the Mamas, and also enjoyed doing my part helping in any way I can. Advice for any others wanting to come, DO! Make sure to listen to the Mamas and get stuck in!" George Hobbs, age 22

"Sanyu Babies' Home fills your heart with joy. We will leave a piece of our hearts with the precious babies of Sanyu, and with the Mamas who give their everything to the babies' wellbeing. It is abundantly apparent that this is not just their job but their very purpose. A very special place indeed." Clare Hobbs, age 51

"I've never visited a place where the happiness is so infectious, and everyone has a permanent smile across their face." Alex Maunder, age 22

"Sanyu Babies' Home has been an absolute dream – true to its name, it radiates pure joy. Among many beautiful moments of warmth and love, forming a deep bond with a little baby named Amos has left a lasting imprint on my heart. I've left a piece of my heart with him and all the beautiful children and Mamas who make Sanyu such a special place." Martha Hobbs, age 19

"My highlight: it was so special to help feed Jonathan, he was giggling and grinning the whole time. If you are thinking about volunteering, 100% go for it! The Mamas are all so friendly and welcoming. There is so much to get involved in and you will have the most joyful precious time."
Rosie Hobbs, age 20

"I'm certain that this will have been others experience too that this trip is quite literally life changing, at any age! We have been welcomed unconditionally and drawn into their loving arms. I was uncertain about coming, but just come and you will be loved and very well fed by Joel!"
Jajja Sarah Hobbs, age 78

"Sanyu Babies' Home is truly a home of joy. The children are full of life and the mamas are so welcoming. I urge anyone to donate or even come and volunteer to experience the love in this home." Lucy Netherton, age 17

"Sanyu is an incredible place to come and spend some time. You can't help but be blown away by the babies, the Mamas and the love that fills this place. I thank God for our connection with this special place, one that now goes back over 25 years." Edward Hobbs, age 51

"Sanyu Babies' Home is a place filled with joy and hope. As a volunteer, you are so wonderfully looked after. If you have the opportunity to go, do it, you will not regret it. The entire staff team at Sanyu Babies' Home is so inspiring, however without the Mamas, the home wouldn't run. So thank you so much for your dedication and love towards the babies, it really is a blessing to everyone."
Esme Hobbs, age 17

"I love Sanyu and return as often as I can, I think this has been my 6th visit spanning over 30 years! I love bringing other people knowing they will be amazed by the welcome, the joy and the love that this home shows to everyone; babies, staff, volunteers and visitors." Lucy Hobbs, age 51

SPONSOR A CHILD

Sanyu takes care of up to 50 babies and toddlers who have been abandoned, orphaned or abused. When children arrive at Sanyu they are often in very poor states of health, sometimes malnourished and they need a lot of love and care. One of the ways you can help these children is by sponsoring a child.

When you sponsor a child at Sanyu you commit to partnering with us by making a monthly donation of $15/60,000 UGX. That monthly donation ensures that Sanyu is able to take care of every child's essential daily needs. Sanyu is run almost entirely on donations, many of which are one-off, so having a regular monthly donation means that Sanyu can reliably provide for our children day in, day out. It means that food can be bought, bills can be paid, medical needs met, and loving staff can be given salaries for their work.

When you sponsor a child at Sanyu, you are partnered with one specific child. Each quarter you receive an update on your specific child and find out about what they have been doing. You really get to know your sponsored child and lots of photos are included too.

Your monthly donation of $15 or 60,000 UGX helps up to 50 babies and toddlers under the care of Sanyu to have hope, to be loved, to be nourished and to go home to their forever family when the time is right.

If you would like more information, please contact Director Barbara on sanyubabhome1@gmail.com or 0788162147. Thank you in advance for the difference you will be making in the lives of the Sanyu Babies.

MEET OUR NEW DRIVER!

What is your name and how long have you worked at Sanyu Babies' Home?

My name is Michael Sabiti and I have worked at Sanyu Babies' Home now for two months.

What is your role at Sanyu?

I am a driver at Sanyu Babies' Home, a role I have occupied for two months. I start my day with morning fellowship with the children at 7:30am then proceed to await further instructions regarding my day's driving schedule and responsibilities. The role of a driver at Sanyu Babies' Home is a full-time commitment, for example when babies fall ill, they may require immediate medical attention including hospital visits. I prefer driving in rural areas due to the less congested routes and the peaceful atmosphere that prevails, far from the chaos of driving in congested urban roads with reckless boda boda drivers.

What inspired you to apply for a job at Sanyu?

Christ Jesus' love for children motivated me to join and work with Sanyu Babies' Home, serving in my capacity as a driver.

What do you think the best thing about Sanyu is?

I believe the most commendable aspect of Sanyu Babies' Home is its commitment to providing abandoned children with a nurturing environment, thereby giving them the care and love they would receive from their biological parents, while also instilling into them strong Christian values.

VOLUNTEER REPORT: CISSY NAMAGANDA

My name is Cissy Namaganda. I am a mother of four, one daughter, and three boys.

I had my daughter who is my first born at a slightly young age in 2008, under the care of her non biological father. Five months later, a friend of his, advised him that it was stupid of him taking care of a non-biological child, that he must tell me to take the child to her father but of course I had no idea of where he was because we had parted ways.

Not knowing what to do as a young mother, someone advised me to come to Sanyu Babies' Home, abandon the child by the roadside or at the gate. Somehow, reality struck me and a voice told me that you cannot get rid of your baby, you must quit the relationship if your child is not welcome.

I passed on the information to the man who is now my husband, who later gave up on the idea of chasing away my child. He gave her a name and promised complete care of her. I am so thankful to God.

My daughter is now 17 years old, pursues her education in Europe and she intends to be a paediatrician.

I chose to come to volunteer at Sanyu Babies' Home as a reflection of what I was about to do, many years back because I thought I have a story to tell to my daughter when she turns an adult.

My volunteering experience at the home is amazing. I came to meet all the lovely, adorable babies under the care of dedicated mothers. It opened my eyes more about the responsibility we have as humans to love, cater for, and give back to little children who are deprived of parental love.

I am so thankful to the administration, for giving me a chance to experience what takes place at the home. I am grateful to the mothers and fathers who take care of the babies, fellow volunteers, sponsors and all the wonderful donors.

MAY GOD RICHLY AND ABUNDANTLY BLESS YOU.

Adrian and Elijah have Found their Forever Family!

Elijah, Adrian and Bob bonding as a family over lunch!

Do you remember we talked about Adrian and Elijah in our previous newsletter? They are a pair of brothers, with an incredibly strong bond, one that, if anything, was strengthened by living with almost 50 other children. They had been through so much together, and as a result, they aren't just brothers, they are the best of friends; they are each other's everything.

Adrian and Elijah arrived at Sanyu on arrived on 12th October 2023. They were found abandoned and the case was reported to the LC1 Chairman of Kigwanya Zone and Nateete Police station who referred the children to Sanyu Babies' Home for care and protection. It was difficult for Adrian and Elijah to settle into living at Sanyu. They both knew this was not home, and that they had been abandoned by people they had previously both trusted. It would have been hard to process their trauma at such a young age and learn to trust adults again. Over time, Adrian and Elijah got to know the Sanyu Family, and began to feel safe and trust the Sanyu Mamas. They met so many children whilst at Sanyu, some they knew for a few days, others they spent every day of their time at Sanyu with. Even from the day he arrived, Elijah was one of the older children. He remained one of the oldest children whilst all of the other older children went to their forever homes. Over time, Adrian also became one of the older children and he too watched his and Elijah's Sanyu brothers and sisters each be found their forever home. Some children were reunited with family members and others were found foster families. For Adrian and Elijah, it didn't really matter where each child was going, it just mattered that they had found their forever families and Adrian and Elijah hadn't.

Elijah and Adrian asked about when it was their turn, but their case was complicated. Their social worker spent a long time investigating their situation, travelling far into the village, just to work out what was best for Elijah and Adrian. Eventually, it was decided that the brothers could not be reunited with their biological family, and so it was time to look for a foster family. Here was the next difficulty though: statistically at Sanyu, the social workers find it harder to find foster parents who wish to foster boys, and even more so older boys, especially those who came as a pair, and who both had a medical condition.

We are delighted to announce though, that despite the odds, our prayers were answered! A wonderful family came forward and expressed that they were interested in fostering Adrian and Elijah. This family was already known to us as they adopted another Sanyu child at the beginning of this year – Kiwanuka Bob. Adrian and Elijah began bonding with their new family, and on the 29th August 2025, they went home. There is no doubt that it will take Adrian and Elijah time to adjust to their new life, and to feel safe and at home, but they have at last found their forever family.

Volunteer Report
Rebekah Bonney

I'm Rebekah Bonney, a 20-year-old nurse from Maryland in the U.S., and I came to volunteer at Sanyu for six weeks. I first reached out in November 2024, not entirely sure what I was looking for, only that I wanted to spend this season of transition in my life doing something grounded and meaningful. My older sister had spent some time volunteering here during her stay in Uganda and described it as one of the most impactful experiences during her time here, and that stayed with me.

This is not my first time on the African continent, but it is my first time traveling here alone, which felt intimidating. But from my first days at Sanyu, I was welcomed with such warmth and patience by the mamas. They taught me how to properly tie up mosquito nets; how to gauge right size clothes for each child; and how to change and feed babies and toddlers with gentleness and efficiency. They have a deep, practical knowledge, born from years of experience, and they shared it freely and graciously for which I'm immensely grateful.
A typical day at Sanyu starts early: 6am for the older children and 8am for the babies. Mornings are full: bathing, changing linens, dressing, feeding, and from Monday to Friday - getting them off to school, which is located right here on site. The work continues until bedtime at 6:30pm for the babies, and 8pm for the older kids - not to mention midnight and 5am feeds. There's constant movement, but also rhythm and routine. What might seem like chaos from the outside is actually a finely tuned system, refined by the staff to ensure each child is safe and nurtured.

I didn't come to Sanyu with a grand plan. I came after leaving a difficult job - one that had chipped away at my confidence and left me questioning whether kindness and goodness were still real in the world. I had felt small, quiet, and unsure; and I knew I needed to be somewhere where love wasn't just spoken about, but lived out. So for me, I came not only to give care, but to witness it again.

What I've found here hasn't been a single dramatic moment, but something quieter. The slow, steady healing that happens when you're part of a place where care is consistent, and offered without fanfare. Watching new arrivals settle into the rhythm of the home, often with surprising ease, has shown me the quiet strength of good care. The mamas live this every day. So do the children, in the way they adapt, play, and trust again over time.
There is no single moment I can point to as life-changing. Instead, it's the accumulation of small, ordinary moments that have stayed with me. A baby settling to sleep in my arms after a long cry. Making mud stew on the playground. The way the children greet you with such open joy. These moments aren't rare or flashy, but they've reshaped how I think about presence, attention, and what it means to show up.

I did hope, coming here, to make a difference, however small. And I believe I have, in small and simple ways. But this experience has reminded me that doing good doesn't have to be big or loud to matter. I often think of a quote from my nursing pinning ceremony: "Do not be daunted by the enormity of the world's grief. Do justly, now. Love mercy, now. Walk humbly now. You are not obligated to complete the work, nor are you free to abandon it." That, to me, is what Sanyu Babies' Home is doing, and what I hope to keep doing, wherever I go next.

As my time at Sanyu draws to a close, I carry deep respect for the staff, the mamas, and the children here. They've welcomed me into their space, trusted me with their routines, and allowed me to grow in the process. This place is not dependent on volunteers, but our presence is valued. Whether someone volunteers for a week, or for months or years, the contribution matters. Even just having an extra hand during feeding time gives the mamas a breath. I've seen firsthand how helpful that support is to the staff and how much the children notice the faces who return. To anyone considering volunteering, whether for a short visit or something more regular, I can only say: show up. Be present. It may not feel like much, but it will matter to someone.

- Western Union accepts Visa, Mastercard and Discover Credit Cards.
- Payments can be tracked in the 'History' section of your account.
